HIPPLE'S AMAZING BANK FRAUDS ARE TOLD IN COURT

President Robbed Trust Company in Insanely Reckless Fashion, While Officials Knowing His Stealings and Impending Ruin Hid Facts.

(Special to The Evening World.)

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 6.—The methods by which the model bank president, Frank Hippel, ruined the Real Estate Trust Company were laid bare this afternoon in a hearing before Magistrate Kochersperger in the case of Adolph Segal, the promoter, William F. North and N. S. Collingwood. Segal and Hippel are accused of being the direct conspirators and Collingwood and North the passive tools in the looting of the institution to the extent it now appears, of perhaps $10,000,000.

The bank was a mine for Segal. Whenever he wanted money in any sum, all he had to do was step into the Real Estate Trust Company, put up a bundle of securities of doubtful or no value and walk away with the cash. He was a depositor in the bank but seldom had any credit to his account.

Even when hundred of thousands in debt to the institution his checks were cashed with the connivance of Hippel North and Collingwood.

It was not unusual for Hippel and Segal to overdraw their joint accounts $100,000 to $600,000. When the overdrafts were so large as to call for removals from minor officers and clerks in the bank Hippel would call a note for the overdraft, get Segal to sign it and put it in the bank as cash. The overdrafts were reported to the State Banking Department as cash on hand.

All this was established by witnesses at the hearing, and more startling developments are yet to come. At the request of District Attorney Bell Segal, North and Collingwood were held for the Grand Jury.

The court room was crowded with men well known in the financial world who came to listen to the story of the closing of the company. Segal, the principal living figure in the case, was surrounded by several attorneys with whom he frequently consulted.

District Attorney Bell, in outlining his case said he would prove that the accused men with Hippel were engaged in a gigantic conspiracy to defraud the trust company and that as a result of the same the trust company lost $10,000,000 and was disbanded from the institution and even extorted for the use of one man—Adolph Segal. The active persons in the conspiracy were Segal, North and Collingwood, he continued, who wickedly and wrongfully stood by and saw the other ruin the institution and never gave a cent.

Mr. Bell said the institution had $200,000 depositors and the deposits amounted to $10,000,000 and $7,000,000. Among the depositors were the trustees for his various companies and Hippel, and between them they had frequently overdrawn their accounts from $60,000 to $80,000.

Segal got $50,000,000.

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN,

Sept. 6.—After trouncing Patsy Denovan's Trolley Dodgers in a double-header yesterday, Johnny McGraw's Giants came here this afternoon, where they hooked up again with the Donovans in the first of the series of four games. Speaking of the trade of Jordan and Lumley for Gilbert McGaugh and Browne, President Elberts of the Brooklyn club had this to say before the game started:

"There is not a chance of the Brooklyn Club letting Jordan and Lumley go for any of the New York players. I want to say right now our club is not selling players, but is ready to buy all the good ones we can secure. It would not be right for the Brooklyn Club to let Lumley or Jordan go. It would cripple the club and be unjust to the residents of Brooklyn, who have supported us so well this season. Money cannot buy either Lumley or Jordan, and there is no chance of these players being traded."

From England for 72 Hours Here.

Seven English football players who arrived on the Mesa of the Atlantic Transport Line, yesterday coming over to see this city, to-day were at the station after their arrival, having gone to England Saturday morning, having been in America twenty-four hours.

The game opened with New York having the right fielder, Spike, out of commission, a feature of the early play. The college team put up a good game, keeping the ball moving out of its territory. G. S. Harris of the Corinthians, kicked the first goal about five minutes from the opening.

Vassall made a fine try for goal from field. A good try by Van Lam was closed by going behind and shortly after Fielden made the saveup.

Fine Game to Look at.

In the English game of Soccer football the ball may touch only by the feet and head, not by the hands or head.

One could imagine that the players had been made to make the feet do service for hands all their lives such was the marked dexterity in moving the ball along with foot and head, sending it wherever desired. As a spectacular game the Soccer is far ahead of the American game's play.

Van Lam made five fine saves when the Corinthians were pressing and sent the ball down into the Englishmen's field.

Keeler made a brilliant save with a rebound from the ball, which had been kicked 20 feet back into the Englishmen's field. A fine combination by New York forwards brought the ball close to the Englishman's goal, but an offside prevented their chance.

The Corinthians began to press the locals hard, and only by the most skillful defense was the score held down.

In a game like this from the start the visitors made several saves, but Van Lam finally shot a goal with his head. There was some pretty passing by New York, and the ball blew off at the same time. Score—Corinthians 5, New York 0.
